Lisa,
 you a real super and a hope girl and a hope sweetie. We can next year we can have a few more classes together. I'd always tell you to call me so we can go out and do something but ya never do! (375-1877) if ya ever get bored and wanna go out and party call me up!
 I really never can keep up with you + your boyfriends but make some time met Todd and you and make a good summer
 Well girl, Hail can go out!
 Love ya,
 Hail

Lisa,
 "It is not in doing what you like, but in liking what you do that is the secret of happiness."
 By assuming a future,
 man makes his present endurable,
 and his past meaningful.
 Use your talent wisely and keep that beautiful smile ☺ and keep up the fine effort.

Lisa,

I'm glad I got to know you this year.

I thought we were never gonna start talking to each other even after I had you in 1st + 6th hour.

But I'm glad we finally did even though I feel like I still have a lot more to learn about
you. Maybe we'll have some classes together
next year. I hope so,
it's fun to watch you laugh cause you scrunch your face up.

We've had some good times
so don't forget your old buddy Kara OK?

Miss See ya!

KALAMAZOO CENTRAL HIGH

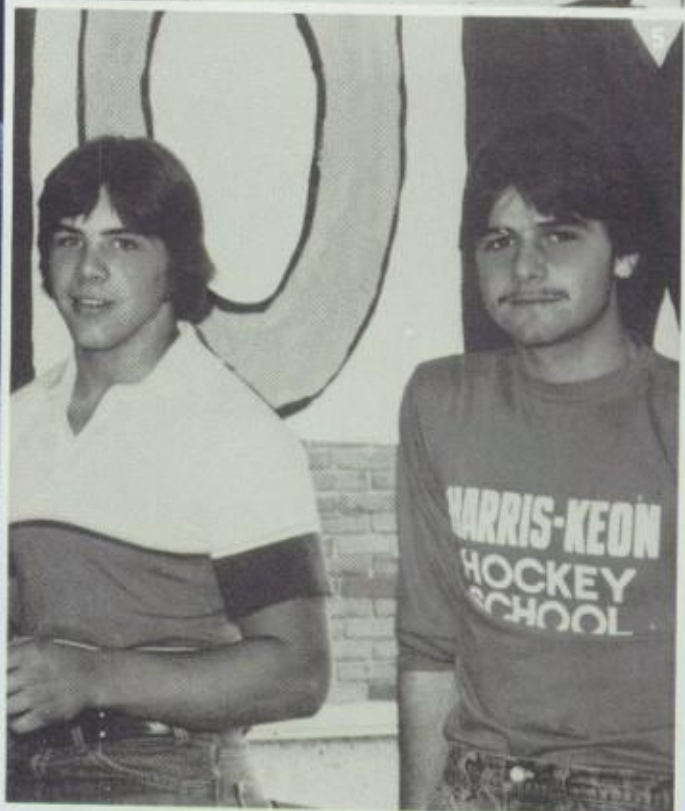

1 2 3
Love and closely knit friendships become lasting long and meaningful, though someday they may be forgotten.

Homework, getting to class, and making it through the day . . .

fun and good times are part of the everyday life at school.

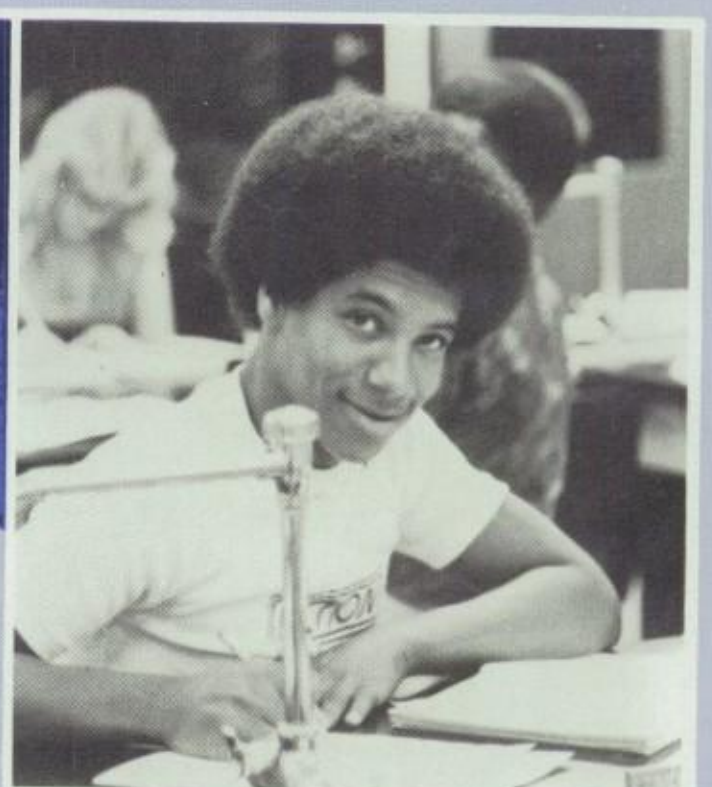

For many people, graduation is the beginning of a ever

new life and for others a sad ending to all they've known.

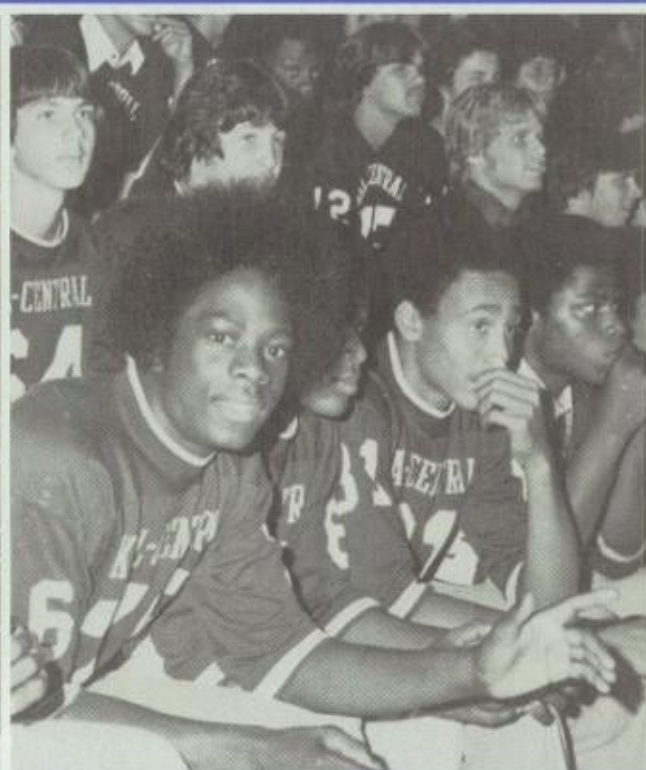

Which way to go? The future is a dream as but with classmates find new ways to learn, not with school, life.

While underclassmen share lack of experience right to sneer

and knowledge it gives seniors the unquestionable and tease.

Some students are content watching others go other, oblivious to

by, while others are content just watching each the world.

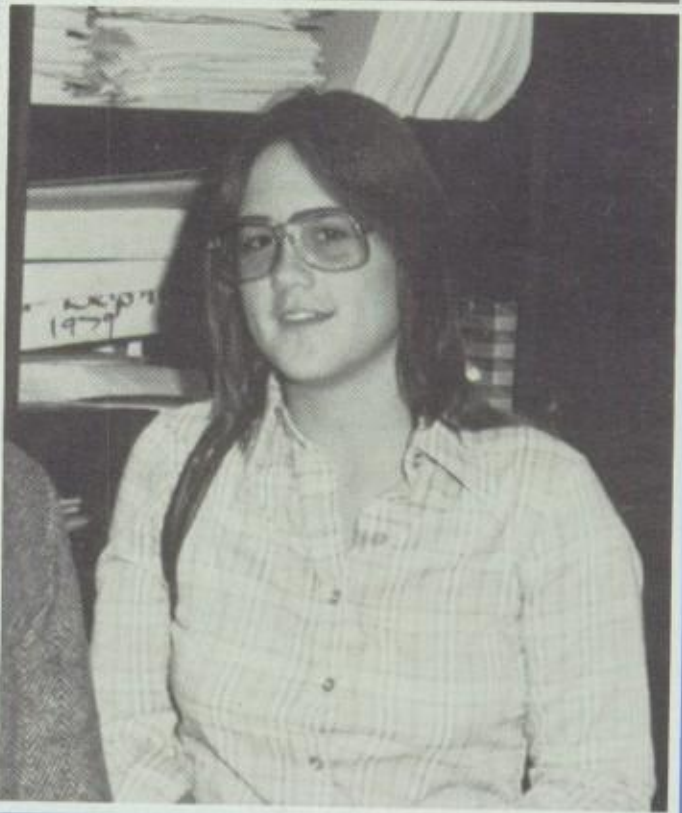

Relaxation is important as students take time to work, and escape from the pressures caused by school, worrying about the future.

"Life is like a game of cards, The hand that is dealt you represents determinism. The way you play it is free will. So I think I have perhaps learned that it is better to make the most of what you are, than to rue yourself into exhaustion because you are not someone else."

DELPHIAN DAY

The Warmth of Spring

The gorgeous spring day that the yearbooks arrive is "Dress-Up Day." The sun shines warm. Guys and gals eat their lunch on the quad, and for one day, everyone wears Spring in their new fashions. The clothes are not necessarily expensive, but they seem to sparkle and everyone feels good, and it's easy to be polite, and just bask in the sunshine.

We sign and write our best in them. We write fun and sentimental thoughts about our dates, the dances, the hayrides, the football games, the snow rides and our secret talks. Our old boyfriends come back to sign our books, struggling with what to say, and our friendly enemies write terse words so as not to offend.

Some of us who are really close, write whole pages full of memories and details of the year past. The day the yearbooks come out, is the day we know the year is almost over, and we begin to look back, and it wasn't so really bad after all.

"See You in Court!"

Monday, yuck! You fall out of bed, the clock on the floor beside you, unplugged. You run downstairs to grab a quick bite to eat, but your sister has eaten all the post-toasties. You run to the bathroom to wash your face. Strange soap, smells minty. Ugh, it's toothpaste! You look in the closet for something to wear. It's only Monday, but nothing looks good. On to school, your locker won't open and the janitor is no where in sight. So you carry your jacket and books with you all day long. At lunch, your favorite school meal is being served: "Buck Roger's Bake." Oh great, left over spaghetti and goulash, served with yesterday's pizza buns. Finally, sixth hour is here. Your grades are being called out on the latest history test. A "C", everyone laughs. Finally, school is over. You run out to your car in the parking lot, only to find a new dent in the bumper. You loaned it to your best friend for lunch. Well, your ex-best friend. On the way home, you get stopped by a cop. You didn't come to a complete stop at the last stop sign. Oh my goodness! See you in traffic court! Hopefully tomorrow will be better. Maybe you won't even get out of bed!

"It's Friday Morning, Fantastic!"

It's Friday morning, you wake up with the sun creeping through the windows. You feel great because you've gotten eight hours beauty sleep. Today's the big day. You're playing in that all-important tennis match, seeded number one. After a brisk shower you put on your new three-piece outfit that's sure to get the heads turning. Mom comes in and says she's got just the right piece of jewelry to match your outfit. Fantastic, with the last finishing touches your ready to meet the new day.

Taking your first step off the school bus, you see your dream-boy coming straight towards you. Your heart beats faster and your blood is on the rise. He makes the first move to start talking and before you know it, he asks you to the school dance tonight. This has really made your day. You count the minutes until the last bell of the day rings. Your first three classes are a breeze. Then you get to fourth hour history class and suddenly remember you have a test that day. While frantically looking around the room for someone's notes to borrow, you are relieved to find out from a friend that the test has been rescheduled for next Monday. Instead, you sit back and enjoy an intellectually stimulating documentary concerning the control of widespread hunger and disease throughout Latin America (only 50 years out of date). Only two more classes to go. In 5th hour you get your Chemistry test back. Feeling confident that you did well; you turn the paper over to reveal the big red mark, an "A". You aced the test! What a breeze! The next hour slips right on by, and before you know it you're on the tennis court. You greet your opponent with a jovial smile and take your place on the court. With no trouble at all, you sweep through the match 6-2, 6-0. Now it's on your way home to prepare for the big night ahead.

You're dressed and ready to go. Now you're patiently waiting for him to pick you up. With a little spare time on your hands, you begin planning the night's conversation. 8:30 sharp. The doorbell rings. You answer the door. He is standing there, his handsome face all aglow. You say hello with a gleaming smile. Soon, you and he are out of sight.

"My Grade Depends on This Report!"

How am I going to do this oral report with all those gleaming eyes staring at me. My grade depends on this report. How in the world am I going to pass this class . . .

"O.K. if your going to talk to me like that you can go down to the office and see Mr. Young." Slam. The door closes behind me. Mr. Young is going to kill me. This is the third time this week I've been in the office. I know he's going to call my mom and she's gonna ground me for a month if not two. She's not going to let me go out with Robert Redford either.

Sigh, what if he asks me to go to the prom, what am I going to do, what do I say? I don't want to go out with him. He's so quiet and shy. He's just not my type. Besides, I want to go with Robbie Douglas. I really like him, what do I do?

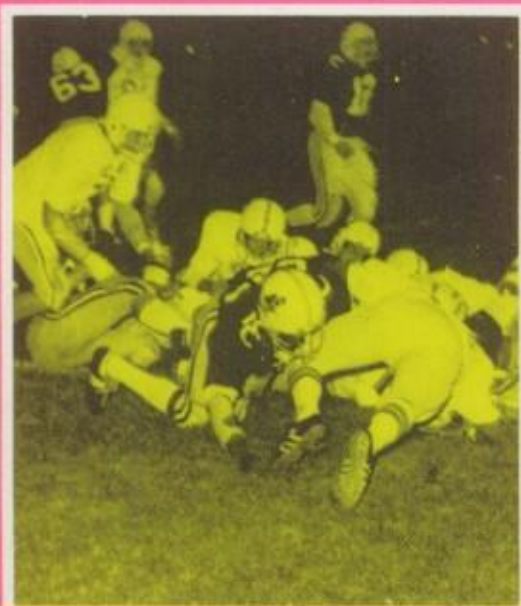

The bases are loaded and I have to play on the infield grass as a second base man. Unfortunately a six foot seven, two hundred pound, left-handed batter is up to bat. Good god, the ball is gonna come right to me, burn a hole in my mit, sizzle my hand and puncture my diaphragm. I'm doomed. Help me Coach Topp. Maybe Kittredge will hit him in the head (accidentally) and knock the old gooner out cold. Here he goes for the wind up . . . ahh strike one. Stace whirrlls the ball back to Dave. The wind up again . . . he hit it. It's coming my way. Help . . .

Tensions, how can we get away from them? No matter where we are, at home in school, or in the middle of the ball field, we can't get away from tension.

ACTION VS APATHY

“Bringing Up the Spirit!”

Action

For most of us, this was another year of positive involvement. Looking at excited, caring faces at a football game, the musical “The Sound of Music” or the drama “Once Upon the Mattress,” or any event, that proves we are alive and active in the life of the school. Whether in the stands or on the field or court, the sometimes sour but uplifting music of the band playing the fight song always help to bring up the spirit. Thanks to the Student Government class, Class Council, and the Delp-hian Staff, dress up days and such activities were easily formed and made this year even more filled with action.

“A Lonely Walk Down the Hall!”

Apathy

Those who are not motivated by High School are present at Central too. Not much school spirit in some people, who just seem to go to classes and leave until the next time when they must come back. A lonely walk down a hall and an occasional look out of a window, seems to satisfy some. The bathrooms are another example: The smoke in the air, the butts on the floor, and an occasional writing on the wall, all add up to the depressing fact of student apathy. Some students never seem to fit in the social cliques, who run Pep assemblies, Prom, Dances and Concerts. What ever the reason for student apathy, it is apparent that it still exists at Central.

Creative Styles Reveal People

The Kalamazoo Central female is cute, feminine, and charming. But this isn't that easy to do. Her attempt at her looks starts with a bubble bath or shower and continues through a make-up routine, which is usually the "natural" look. Then she styles and curls her hair for the look that's in.

Her outfit, whether it's a bright, summer sundress, gauchos and a vest, a skirt and blouse, a three piece suit, or ripped-up overalls, is usually something to impress "him." Then to make her outfit complete she goes to her jewelry box and finds a simple chain and earrings to match.

As for the Kalamazoo Central male, who has as much good looks and charm as the

(3)

(4)

(5)

female, his day usually starts with a close shave, if needed. His hair which usually takes half the time as hers to fix, is blown dry and styled to look neat. His outfit seems to be what ever is clean; sometimes it's the casual look of Levi's and other times it's dress pants or a suit. He usually wears little or no jewelry, and a last minute touch before he walks out the door is a slap or two of aftershave.

PRESSURE PROVOKES...

... Cheating in school. The pressures, the inducements for high grades and the promise of the college of your choice, if only you can get that B in Chemistry, or the A in College English. Mother, at home telling you that Suzie gets all A's, and why can't you do better. Your boyfriend's going to the University of Michigan, while the best you can do is KVCC. Pressure. Pressure. Pressure. Get those grades . . . or else. The jobs out there beyond the diploma are scarce and marginal, and are generally dead end. There is no place to go, but on to college, until the jobs begin to open up. Get those grades. If you are not going to college, the Business and Trade Schools demand high grades and steady attendance too. Even the Army will not take drop-outs. Get those grades. Pressure. Pressure. Pressure. Get those grades. And so . . .

(1)

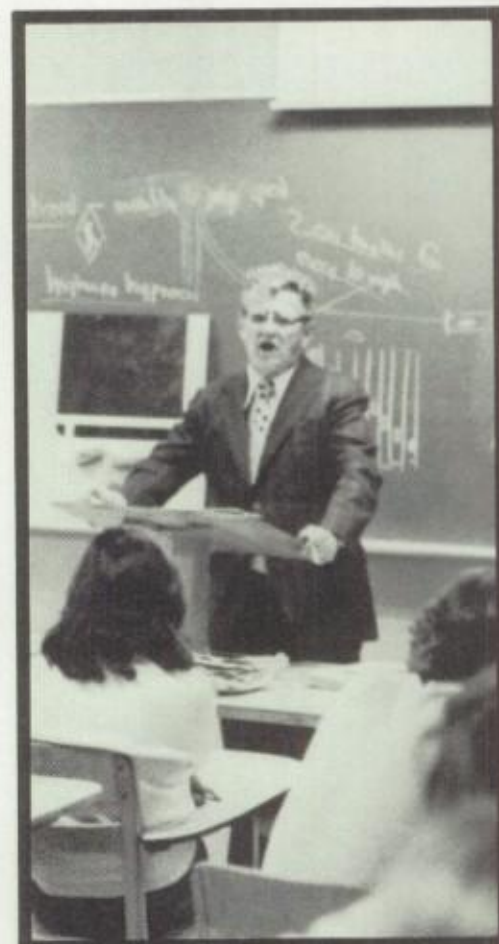

1. It is first hour, and we were out late last night, and well, we just couldn't get that math done — so — well let's see here.

(2)

2. Code between friends; "What's the answer to number 5?" A = two nods, B = a wave, C = a big smile. A simple shrug of the shoulders indicates "I don't know!" A code like that is indecipherable, well almost . . .

3. . . . Then there are those who get caught . . .

(3)

4. Belinda got caught cheating in class. Now, there's a price she'll have to pay. Aw Gee Whiz —

(4)

5. When the principal calls Belinda's name to see him in the office, she tries an escape route, via the bathroom, but, she is stopped short by hall monitors.

(5)

CHEATING.

1: Seeking condolence from another teacher, Belinda receives less than a warm welcome. "Keep going" says the teacher.

2: Even Belinda's best friend, Marlene, won't have a thing to do with a "caught" cheater.

3: When rumor reaches Charmaine, another friend, she reacts as well.

The fact is that 70% of the senior students attending Central High will be attending one college or another this year. Barely ten years ago the figure was close to 40%. More and more, students that get C's are demanding a better education because they too must go on to college, and the colleges are demanding literate, articulate and knowledgeable students. So the pressure's on and we try to make it. The era of the funny dumb bunny, who can make it by flying high through high school is over. We must learn to write. We must learn to read. We must learn to think. And that's what it is all about in 1979 at Central High School. Whether it be Parsons Business School, United Airlines Plane Mechanics Technical School, or the University of Michigan . . . the future lies ahead only to those who learn what Central has to offer. And that is a fact.

4: Belinda finally headed the right direction for help. Ms. Smith patiently straightens things out, and saves our hero from a sure suspension.

5: And so our hero is ready to go back to class, and once again, be honest.

MAROON & WHITE REVIEW

A Night of Laughs and Entertainment . . .

Talent in KCHS? Naw, you're putting me on. That was my first thought as I bought my ticket to the 1978 Maroon and White Review. Boy, was I to be proven wrong.

As I entered the theatre that night with six of my friends, I thought at least the night wouldn't be totally bad, because there were a lot of people I knew here, and hopefully the night could at least provide a couple laughs.

We finally found our seats after changing them three times. Everyone had different preferences as to where we'd be able to see and hear better. At that point, it didn't really matter to me except there WAS this cute guy we could always just happen to sit behind . . . But, of course we couldn't sit there because "It's too close and we won't be able to hear right."

Soon after we were situated, (after rearranging ourselves about four times), the lights began to dim. "Hey! A good time to catch up on the sleep I've been missing!" But I decided to stay awake because I figured I could sleep at home without having to pay the price of a ticket.

The darkness loomed over me until suddenly a bright yellow light focused on one of the side stages on the left wall. There sat Hank Techentin, in his pinstriped suit, acting as a news commentator. The theme of the show as I was to soon figure out, was Television. Hank went on introducing the theme and then introduced the first act. "Oh God" I thought. My mind was racing with visions of the 'talent' shows at good ol' Hillside. But soon, Sue Cooke and Marlene Yarger proved that there really is a difference between Jr. High and Senior High. The next act, featuring Jerry Dixon singing one of his own original songs, hushed the crowd as they tried to believe all the fantastic music that was surrounding them. I know I felt as if I were in a musical recording studio watching a professional tape one of his new singles. The first went on and was enhanced by the comedy tidbit done by Gregg Walterhouse. His shy, subtle attitude towards the audience, made it difficult to gain the courage to sing his original one-liner. John Bradley came on next and did his own version of the song 'Nothing.' John combined his smooth voice with his acting ability to provide a charming act. The number 7 act on the agenda was a great song and dance number by Diane Hill, Gay Thomas and Marie Robert, possibly three of Central's best vocalists. All three produced a cute, smooth act and along with the expertise piano playing of Mark Clark, the number turned out to be one of the highlights of the whole evening. The song "You Could Drive a Person Crazy" was a good choice because it combined rhythm with a fast tempo that gave the show a touch of liveliness. "Oh, Betsy's on next." All week long we'd been trying to get some sort of answer from her on what her act would be. She had promised us it would be good, and it was. Betsy Burns, her brother David and Anne Pringle had created one of the most original acts I had ever seen. Posing as 'Eustace Brown and the Brownies' David was the lead ukelele player while Betsy and Anne portrayed hick, country singers.

To liven it up a little, Betsy and Anne even added a little dance.

The next act was just labeled as "Special . . ." featuring Jim Platt." I expected some simple comedy routine. I was very confused when the orchestra burst into the theme from 2001. I just assumed that someone had made the common mistake of labeling the acts out of order. All the sudden, out of the side stage, runs a person. My first reaction was Elvis! But a closer look revealed that it WAS Jim Platt as Elvis. Jim's whole outfit was complete, including a white, glittery outfit, black toupee and sideburns, and last but not least, even the famous Elvis sweat towel around his neck. "All shook up, Yea yea." The effect was amazing. With a few members of the cast acting as a screaming audience, the atmosphere was that of a real Elvis concert. Jim sang on through three songs, in the voice of Elvis and even gave away a few of his sweaty towels. What a fantastic finish for the first half of the show.

Then it was intermission. We clambered over each other to get out of the aisle. In the main hallway, the chatter was busy with comments like "Wow did you see that???" and "My favorite part was . . ." I stopped to talk with a few of my friends, then figured it was time to head back to my seat.

The next thing I knew, the show was over. Finished. The End. I actually wanted it to go on some more. Where were the rest of the acts? "C'mon Dummy. It's time to go." I got out of my seat, still in a daze and followed my friends out to the car. I felt like I was under some hypnotic power. The night had been too unbelievably true.

Apparently, I hadn't been the only one that had enjoyed the show. Everyone seemed to think that the Maroon and White Review had been a real success. The next Monday at school, congratulations were going out to all the cast members.

I talked to some of the members of the show, and they all agreed that the show had gone off quite well. They also thought that audience response had seemed exceptional. The whole cast and crew seemed to think that the best part of the whole thing had been meeting new people and making new friends.

A special thanks was brought up by many to go to Mr. Ettwein, Mr. Smith, and Mr. Jenkins. An extra tribute was given to Mr. Teare, and the whole KCHS orchestra for providing back up music for many of the acts.

Some of the cast are already excited about doing next year's show. And if the performances are as good, so am I!!!

HELPING THE RED CROSS

KCHS Blood Drive

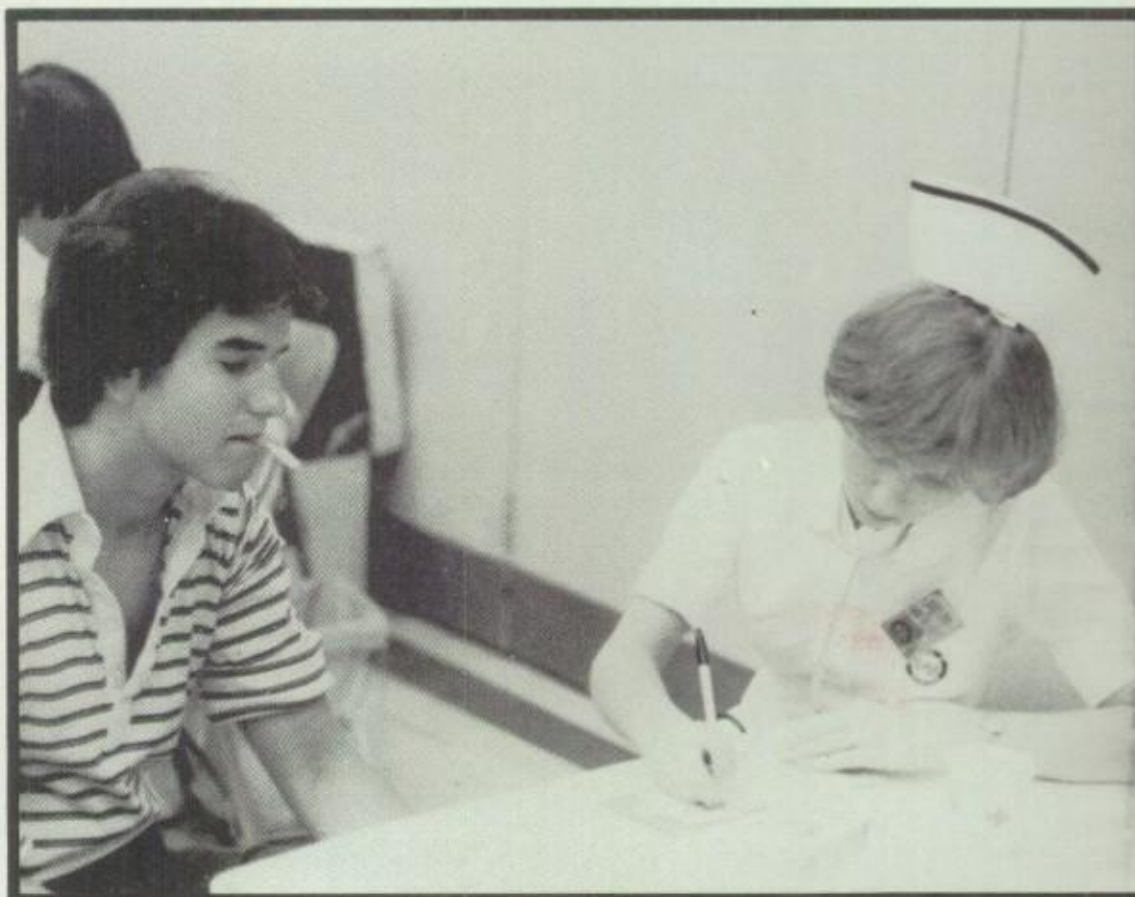

The 1978 blood drive has proved to be another success for Central students. Central has been on top of other schools in the district for giving blood for the last 6 years. The amount of blood given in 1978 was 132 pints. The Red Cross sends the blood to the Great Lakes Regional Blood Center in Lansing, where the blood is sorted and kept until the hospitals send for it. The process of giving blood is fairly simple. The first nurse takes your temperature and blood pressure. If you pass through that nurse, you go on to a second nurse to which you give a brief medical history. From there you wait at a table where you receive orange juice and cookies to build your blood up before you give. After a short wait you then lay on a cot where they begin to take the blood. First they find a vein to take the blood from. They wash your arm with alcohol, put in the needle and begin to take blood. In your hand they put a block which you squeeze for 4 seconds and relieve your hand for 4 seconds. you continue this until your pint is given. You then hold up your arm to protect against blood clotting. After a few minutes you are invited to eat a snack at the Red Cross Canteen.

"THE SOUND OF MUSIC."

An Evening of Song and Love

I walk out on the stage, my eyes blinded to the audience by the bright spot lights. This is the night we've been waiting for, the night when everything falls in place. The heat making me sweat. I hope my make-up isn't running. The orchestra waiting for their cue. I hear my cue; I open my mouth to sing hoping my voice won't crack. "The Hills Are Alive . . ."

The Sound of Music, presented March 17th and 18th, 1978, by the KCHS music department. Directed by Kathy Mulay and choreographer Adriene Sherwin. Set design by Dennis Ettwein, and Ron Tear and Fred Colgren were in charge of music.

Joe Stegman, who is a junior this year at KCHS, was very pleased with the way the musical worked out. He said the entire show did not fall together until the night of the first performance. He felt as though the choir got closer together during the musical. Several wondered if the group was going to live up to the audiences' expectations.

Along with the two young people here, Marie Robert and Liz VanSweden, five youths played the children parts. They all ranged in different sizes and ages. Together they sang cheerfully Sixteen Going on Seventeen, Do Re Mi, and Adelweis. Their renewed spirits carried them onto a stage filled with colorful sets, lively dances, and lavish costumes.

The musicals have established a tradition that has increased in popularity over the past years and is sure to be a yearly event in the years to come.

INTERNATIONAL FRIENDS

"Our Special Visitors"

"Ladies and gentlemen, may I have your attention please? Pan Am flight 101 from Tokyo, Bombay, Tehran, Paris, and Madrid is now landing. Passengers will be disembarking at gate 15. Thank-you."

He walked down the ramp and steps onto the soil of a new country, with many new faces, and a completely different culture from his own. Who is he? He could be one of the many foreign exchange students here at K.C.H.S. Of course, not all are from Tokyo, Bombay, Tehran, Paris, or Madrid. They arrive from all over the world, and the first feeling they get is of loneliness. Things don't really get started until they start school; which is one of their main reasons for coming here . . . to expand their knowledge, not only of Algebra, English, Biology, Trigonometry, Physics, etc., but also of the U.S. of A., and its ways.

A few of the students live with older brothers and sisters, and a few live with American families. Mahmood Azizi, a senior, is staying with his older brother, who attends Western Michigan University. Farzad Aliabadi, a junior, is residing with the Saviano's who live on Highgate. Joe and Melissa Saviano attend school here at Central, so Farzad feels a little more at home.

When Mahtab Mirzarian first started school here, she was really surprised; everything was so different from back home in Iran. And when asked what she felt the first day she started school here, she replied, "I didn't know anyone here, so I felt very lonely and lost, and missed all my friends in Iran." But now she's settled down, and likes it here. Hopefully most of the foreign students will learn to like it here, and will go back home to their countries, with good memories of their time spent here.

"TURN THE BEAM UP!"

TV STUDIO

"Lights . . . camera . . . action!" Let's focus in on Station KCHS T.V. Starring KCHS students, directed, produced, and taught by Dennis Ettwein.

An average day in the T.V. production class usually goes something like this . . .

"How do you turn the camera on?"

"There's a knob in back, marked power."

"Nothing's happening."

"Turn the beam up."

"Mr. Ettwein, this camera is not working."

"Do you have the power on?"

"Yup."

"Take off the lense cap."

Then the whole class breaks into laughter.

"O.K., now we're going to start shooting when I say 'On the air, and I want everyone quiet.'"

"Stand-by," not a noise from the class. "We're on the air."

"Oh, Mr. Ettwein, I forgot . . ."

In a chorus of Shhh's, Mr. Ettwein breaks in with, "Oh for Pete's sake, CUT!"

The T.V. studio consists of two television cameras, a control board, a "boom," a large overhead microphone, and Mr. Ettwein. The students have a lot of fun making commercials, doing new shows, and whatever else Mr. Ettwein comes up with.

CREATIVE WRITING

Our Personal Truths . . .

In Creative Writing we write from what we know. We write from our own experiences and lives. We write about our teachers, our conflicts, our joys and our loves. We write each day. We learn to criticize and peruse each others' writings in class. The first semester deals in fiction and prose; the second in poetry. To write well, we must write often, and this is what we do in Mr. Bennett's class.

Whisper

A flowered apron covers her thin legs, and her sore hands struggle to turn the metal crank.

"Girls, it's important that you sift the flour well."

Tired, dreary eyes held in pale wrinkled skin, and her short grey hairs have lost their softness.

They whisper quietly about a man, who jilted her
"Oh, isn't it sad?"
"How mean."
but she doesn't hear them.

The dough feels soft and warm on her hands. She bends her stiff back over the counter, kneading and kneading
"And always remember to grease the pan."

Jane Johnson

It Hurt . . .

I sat alone on the steps of the old school. Watching the other kids play was almost as much fun as playing with them. At least I had time to myself. Besides, I really didn't like those kids, anyway. They were too average. Right?

The teacher raised her hand, and my classmates ran past me into the building. I tried to ignore the comments they flung at me.

"Hey there, brains!" "Well, if it isn't little miss intelligent!" "Teacher's Pet!"

I felt my ears burn. I hated being smart, knowing the answers. I hated the fact that the teacher really did like me in particular. More than anything else, I hated the other kids resenting me. It hurt, not having friends.

The teacher sat beside me on the steps and put her arm around me.

"Is something wrong? I hope not, because I'd like you to help me grade papers. And afterwards, I might have a special little treat for you. But we won't tell the other kids now, will we?"

I nodded reluctantly, and turned my head so she couldn't see the tears well up in my eyes to overflowing and splash down my cheeks.

ANTHROPOLOGY:

Digging Up Our Past!

One of the aspects to Mr. Black's Sociology Classes is an inquiry into Anthropology, the inquiry into the origins of man's evolution and culture. It is a fascinating study into how people lived in different times and places centuries before our civilization matured.

To make it more fascinating the two classes created their own ancient cultures, and buried their artifacts for the other class to dig up. And from the clues given by one class, the other class determined what the core of the buried civilization was, such as its family, political and social life.

One class created the "Clone" culture. The other the "Burnouts." The "Clone" class buried baby toys, which represented their worship of children, and their worship of the sun. The plots were laid out very carefully by placing strings symmetrically across the dig.

There was probably more fun in creating and laying the artifacts than digging them up. There were some flies, mosquitoes that inhibited the search, but generally the adventure in the creation and exploration of culture was exciting and worthwhile. In John Dewey's words, "We learned by doing."

MYTHS AND MATH

ADVANCED MATH

"Using $\cos. x_1 = 4/5$ and $\cos. x_2 = 12/13$, solve this problem: $\cos. (x_2 + x_1)$, $3\pi/2 x_1$, 2π , $3\pi/2 x_2$, 2π ," Mr. Carlson announces to a class of bright-eyed Mathematicians, and one pair of sleeping ears. As the waking head rises, and another pair of bright eyes emerge from dreamland, I find myself in the midst of twenty-nine pencils clicking out the solution. I begin to wonder if this "mathemagical land" of room 317, can lead me to the future I recently held in my fantasies.

After many futile attempts at this problem, I admitted defeat and got a pass out to the math lab. Shortly thereafter, I learned the answer was simply, $3/5$.

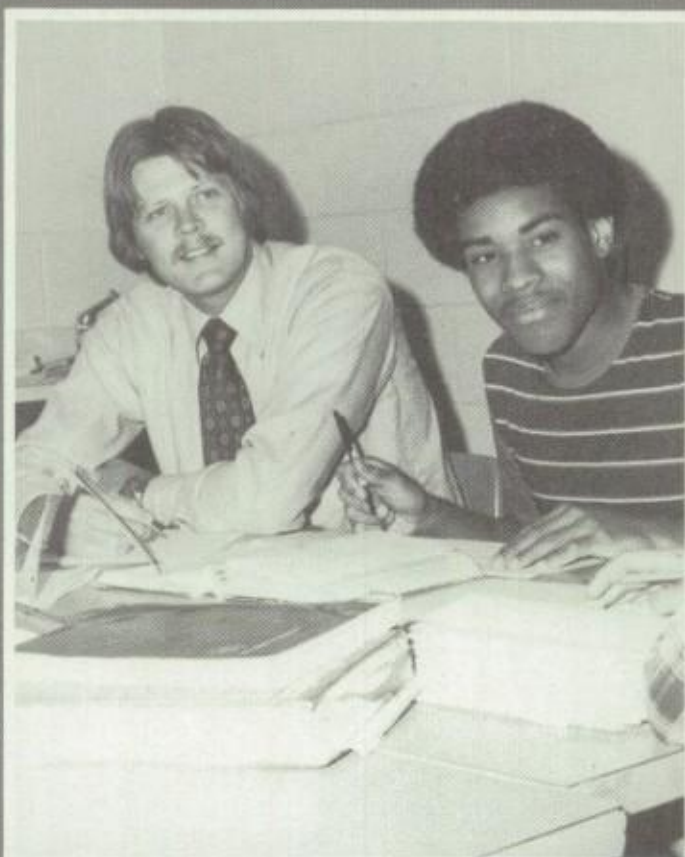

This year, emphasis has been placed on a more individualized program for the benefit of all math students.

The math lab, room 314, is office-sized and equipped for no apparent reason with a counter, cupboards, and a broken sink. It is scattered with seats and tables.

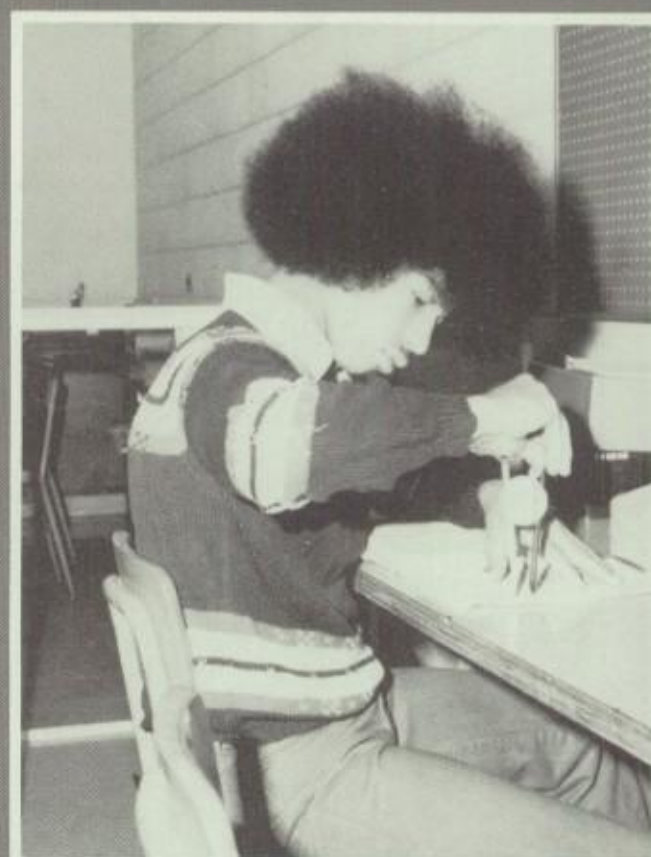

The math lab is manned each hour by one of Central's fine mathematics instructors. Mr. Poloms, head of the department, can be found there during the third hour.

Highly skilled students visiting the math lab can expect to improve their skills, while the not-so-smart students can catch-up to their peers.

SOCCER

International Football: Lightening on the Scene — The Fastest Growing Sport in the United States

Soccer! The sport of the future. Over the past ten years Soccer (International Football) has made incredible inroads into traditional American Football, and will, no doubt, continue to grow by leaps and bounds. Because of the smaller injury rate, and constant flow and speed of the sport, it has continued to make ground in this country.

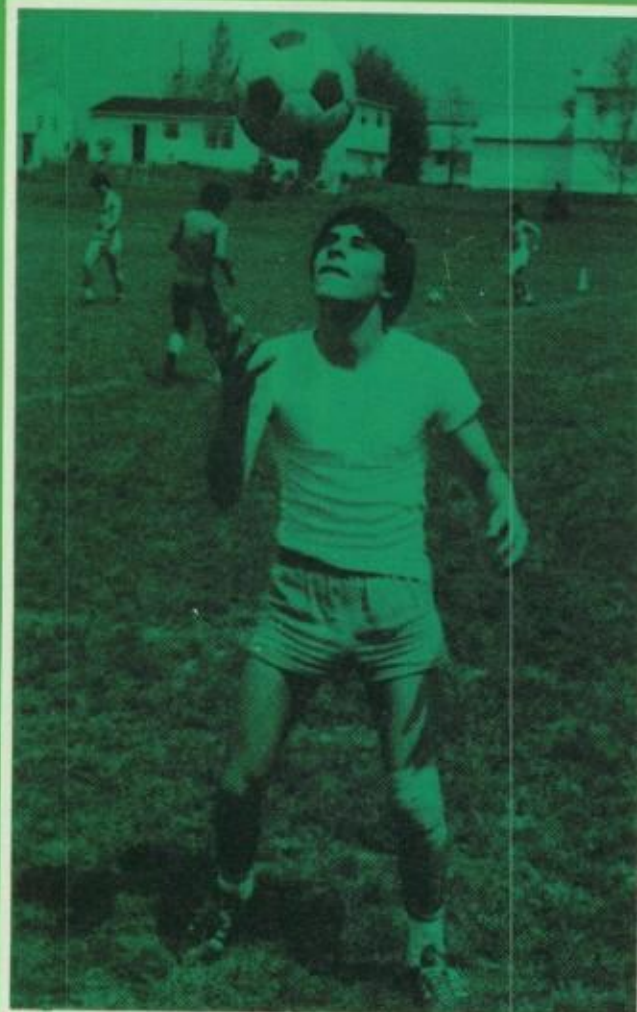

Central High now has Soccer, as a club sport. With the many feeder leagues springing up and the many 11 through 14 Jr. High leagues in the area, it will be only a matter of time before the club sport status will be upgraded to major sport status.

Here's the coming of Soccer, the newest competitive sport to arrive at Central High in 1979.

STUDENT POLITICIANS ==

pathmakers

1977-1978 — Mr. Ray otherwise known as "Rockin Ray" when he displayed his vocal tones as a disc jockey was the Student Government advisor. It was Mr. Ray's first year of teaching Student Government. It was like the blind teaching the blind. I didn't even really know what the class was all about. I just knew where the room was.

I had never realized that there was more to a school dance than just putting up a few balloons. I never knew how shakey I could get when I read an announcement over the P.A., working in committees, organizing events, and carrying through with them, all this was harder than I had realized.

I also learned something that I could never get out of my trusty dictionary. Sure, the word is in there but it doesn't tell you what I learned. People — how to work, enjoy, and respect other people and myself. I also discovered three types of people. Those that do nothing, those that do little, and those that do everything. The policy of do-nothing, do-little, and do-everything also holds true in the Class Councils. The Councils are selected by popular vote, unless you're a sophomore, in which case I selected who I knew. When I ran out of people I knew, I voted for the nice sounding names.

1978-1979 — Mr. Ray is now in his second year of teaching Student Government, and he is doing a super job. This was one of the best Homecomings K-Central has ever had. The class has also improved. This year everyone is working and working hard!

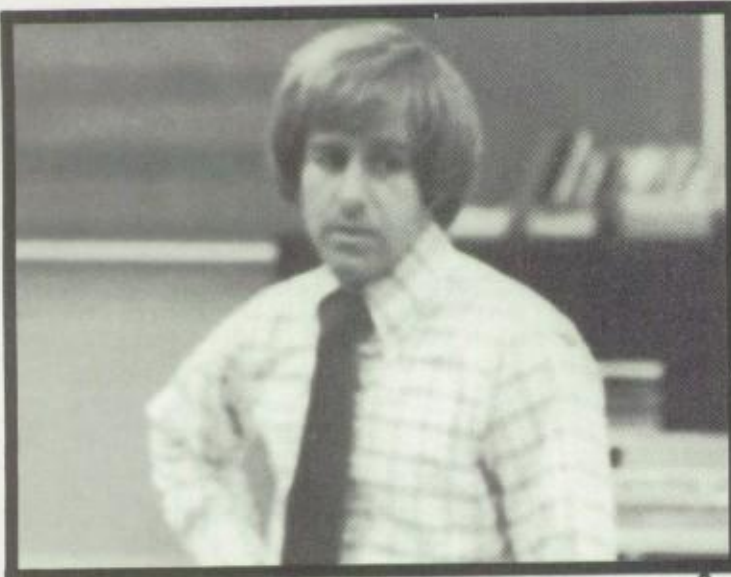

I think every student should thank the Student Government Class for the numerous activities and events they plan for our school. If we didn't have such a class, we, the student body, would miss a great deal. These student politicians pave the pathways.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS

Working for Skills . . .

One of the most exciting places for students in the school is the Industrial Arts Department of Central High. Welding, Woodworking, Electronics, Graphic Arts, Drafting, Auto Mechanics, and Small Machines are the specific classes offered to the student body. Students learn trades and skills by doing actual jobs, not just book learning.

Among the different and varied projects that the Department participates in and helps are the building of a real home, the repairing of cars, the publication of school publications, and the revitalizing of tv's and radios. The Department also helps rebuild lawnmowers and small engines.

Through learning how to utilize the skills of these practical programs, students learn and mature skills, which will be used regularly throughout the rest of their lives.

Industrial Arts is a practical and usable education, and an important part of our high school curriculum.

Looks Like We Made It

Suddenly he's not the same guy that stood in front of your 5th hour Physics class wearing slightly faded Levi's and a red and blue striped polo shirt. His voice quivered as he had tried to ask as casually as he could, "What are you doing this Friday night?" Both of you knowing perfectly well that it was the night of the long awaited Senior Prom.

Now as he stood in your doorway, you could hardly recognize him. He wore a baby-blue tux that gave his anxious eye a touch of luster. There was a proud tone in his voice as he complimented me on my silky pink bare-backed gown.

Immediately we were overtaken by my paranoid parents that clenched their Ploaroid camera in their hands. We were placed in front of the fireplace and told to smile. Next came the embarrassing part. Of course they needed a picture of Michael pinning on my corsage to go into the family photo album. Well naturally Mike was getting shakey and instead of pinning the corsage on my dress, he proceeded to pin it to his own fingers. Mom had to help him out but it finally ended up on my dress.

After we were informed of my curfew and all of the other precautionary measures, we were permitted to leave.

Michael's red Maverick had mysteriously transformed into a gold, freshly-washed Ninety-eight. It looked exactly like the car I had seen Michael's dad drive before.

Now as the car pulled into the parking lot of the Black Swan Restaurant, I wondered if the tightness in my stomach would allow me to eat. Knowing that someday I would look back at my Senior Prom and laugh, didn't help me feel any more at ease. The steak was superb but I regretted not ordering the French fries that I craved for. Instead, trying to look elegant, I had taken the baked potato that was left untouched on my plate.

The dinner was filling and I had a hard time trying to hold my stomach in so that my waist would look little. I excused myself to the Ladies Room and readjusted my dress, rearranged my hair, and reapplied my make-up. After I was completely reassembled, I walked back to the dim candle-lighted table. Michael had already taken care of the bill. My curious mind had estimated it at about $40.

When we finally arrived at the Kalamazoo Center, I felt like a dry desert had taken the place of my mouth. We were approximately half an hour late. Just in time to make a grand entrance. As we walked into the Ballroom, I couldn't believe it . . . it actually came true . . . "It Looks Like We Made It."

D A T I N G

Contrary to opinion education isn't all that goes on at Central High. The attraction between the opposite sex pre-occupies many students and diverts their attention from the more mundane aspects of student life. In short, dating, and girls, and those handsome dudes are much on our mind. There are blind dates, boring dates, exciting dates, movie dates, dinner dates, car dates, bike dates, dancing dates, drinking dates, first dates, beach dates, romantic dates and last dates. For the girls there are shy guys, polite guys, romantic guys, sexy guys, cute guys, and grabby guys. For the guys there are aggressive girls, naive girls, smart girls, made-up girls, mommy's girls, foxy girls, considerate girls, and the girl next door.

The places to meet are in the halls, in the stair-wells, at the games, in the classrooms, on the slopes, at the parties, at work, and at the dances. We talk about the future, our friends, our enemies, our school work, our families, our fads, our music and our next date. And when we dance we do the Freak, the Bump, Charlie Brown, the Robot, and we hold each other close and we hang loose. We listen to Kiss, Commodores, Isley Brothers, Rick James, Olivia Newton John, Earth, Wind and Fire, and that wild and crazy guy, Steve Martin. And while we do all this we hope in the future we will meet The One and Only. In the meantime we dance, Here's to education. Here's to our friends. Here's to 1978-1979 at Central High.

The sophomores are trying to pass Biology, learn to study and make it on the athletic teams of the school. They watch the seniors closely. They wonder if they will ever date anyone. It's an inbetween time. Last year they were big, bad ninth graders. This year they are the rookies, "little fish" in a big barrel, but they know their time is coming. Wait until next year.

RETAKES

"My feeling is that the tendency to carry youthful characteristics into adult life, which renders man perpetually immature and unfinished, is at the root of his uniqueness in the universe, and is particularly pronounced in the creative individual. Youth has been called a perishable talent, but perhaps talent and originality are always aspects of youth, and the creative individual is an imperishable juvenile. When the Greeks say, "Whom the gods love die young" they probably meant, as Lord Sankey suggested, that those favored by the gods stay young till the day they die; young and playful."

Music With Discipline . . .

The Kalamazoo Central 1978 Marching Band is perhaps the most spirited, best disciplined group of students to perform for the school in recent years. Under the able direction of Jerome Mandl, the band pranced and strutted through such songs as "Cantina Band", "Copacabana", "Blue Skies", "You, You're the One", "Varsity Drag", and "Confidence". The marching band consists of 77 members while concert band includes 97 members. Senior band members are: Laura Birch, Karen Boerman, John Bradley, Viki Brockman, Mark Clark, Lonnie Cross, Bob Dame, Cathy Dickie, Ken Earhart, Sue Hill, Brian Houser, Rick Hughy, Julia Lancaster, Meg Milne, Ron Rayford, Kirt Remund, Dawn Sechler, Amy Wagenfeld, and Holly Wyant. The band practiced for 2-2½ hours daily. The pride of the Maroon and White uniformed students was maintained throughout the entire football season. They far exceeded the high standards of performance set by bands of the previous years. We CONGRATULATE you!

Coach Topp's Final Season

The 1978 Maroon Giants Varsity Baseball Team was led this year by the three year letter award winners Randy Ball, Jim Eller, and Greg Bishop with Randy Ball and Jim Eller capturing a spot on the Big Eight Conference team.

Other key players on the team included Junior sensation Duane Dunbar, deadly when at bat, Senior Craig Boers doing a super job behind the plate, along with Greg Bishop, Dave Knapp, Nick Clark, and Dave Heemstra. There is high hopes for the Varsity Squad next year, from a hidden source one says, "the squad next year will be young and may make mistakes but is quick and therefore will make a comeback, to make next year a great season.

This year was the final season for coach Bill Topp, wrapping up his tenth and final year here. The players reflect on Coach Topp's contribution to the team and they feel he's done a great deal to Varsity Baseball and is going to be missed.

Power Hitters Mark Junior Varsity Baseball

In an early season interview with Coach Signeski of the J.V. Baseball team, he said he feels the team has an excellent chance of winning the title, even though this is their first year in the Big Eight Conference. He feels the team has excellent college potential with big hitters like Mike and Mark Miller, Rob Holland, and Mark Simmonds. They also have an excellent pitching staff in Dan Saville, Dan Freese, and Mark Simmonds. Signeski also expressed his tremendous gratitude to his assistant coach Al Papendick for volunteering his services to the team. Mr. Papendick is extremely proud of the team. This is his first year of coaching here at Central. He too feels the team has great potential. Some of the players may fall into a slump but he knows they will come out of it. Papendick especially appreciated Mark Simmonds' job behind the plate as catcher. He also expressed good feelings about many of the other teammates. He feels Coach Topp won't have any problems putting together a good Varsity squad next year.

WOMENSTRACKGOLF SOFTBALL

Central Women Place 2nd in District Finals

The 1978 Womens Softball Team, coached by Al Clark, is comprised of experienced Seniors Debbie Clark and Dina Hershberger; talented Juniors Beth Belleville, Mary Costello, and Sandy Wisser; and supporting Sophomores Karla Berry, Carolyn Burns, Becky Cain, Connie Grooten, Hettie Hager, Jane Langeland, Kelly Rowekamp, Dana Scott, and Laurie Warnicke.

Even though the team got off to a slow start this year, it is a young team, comprised of nine sophomores, and still has plenty of time to build a strong team. The talent is there, but it is agreed by the players that it's just a matter of getting the team to work together. Coach Clark feels the team may take their lumps this year but it should improve their prospects for the next season.

All the girls have had previous experience on summer league teams. Despite their ups and downs, the girls are enthusiastic, have a good attitude and are enjoying themselves which makes for a good season.

"The Bear Is on You!"

"Runners take your mark, get set," Bang! And immediately your legs blur into action, your heart starts to pound, and your lungs start to burst as you whip down the straight away and head into the curve. You think only of running smooth and breathing evenly, and far off things such as the crowd roaring and people shouting seems miles away. You start to hear footsteps as you hit the backstretch, and you immediately lengthen your stride. Here comes the curve and you quicken your steps and suddenly it hits you. All those times of cutting through the cornfields and running twenty yards instead of three miles like

Coach Long told you to, suddenly cramps your style. As we runners say, "the bear is on you." It's a big one this time, weighing about 300 pounds. In a daze you don't really notice seven blurs go by you at about seventy miles an hour and then the world starts to spin. As you fall down into the cool green grass, you faint. You are jerked out of your peaceful rest by horrible odor of smelling salts, and you come to noticing hundreds of faces peering at you intently. But only one stands out, and makes you remember all the agony all over again. It's Coach Long. After a swift kick in the butt by coach's size 13½, you finally cross the finish line, of course helped by the trainer. As you take your lonely shower, you are cheered up by one fact, you can try again in the next meet.

Six Years Undeclared in Dual Competition!

Kalamazoo Central believes in following tradition and the 1978 Women's Track team is no exception. The team completed its sixth consecutive dual season undefeated. Under the coaching of Georgia Hall and Dave Balcom, this team of 40 women brought many exciting moments to the spectators and teammates.

The team started the season in a rough way by losing the WMU Indoor Invitational meet which they had won the previous year. This loss, however, made the team more determined to come back and show their opponents what KC was really made of. Show them they did. The team came back and won all their dual meets quite handily. On Saturday, April 22, Loy Norrix held their second annual metric meet, in which Central took the victory along with a beautiful trophy. Then came the Big 8 Conference meet. KC outdistanced their nearest competitor by 30 points. 1978 marked the first year for women to compete in the Greater Kalamazoo meet. Central's women, once again, overcame their opponents and went on to capture the victory. The secret of the team's outstanding record is no secret, the team has great depth where other teams seem to be lacking.

The team could never have reached the position they did without the help of many people. Laurie Alexander and Sue Rediker, who were former KCHS students, came back and helped out the team. Karla Fettig helped the team last year and did so again this year. These people played a very important part in the team's success. Coach Hall feels that the team has become divided. The sprinters have their own group along with the distance runners and field event people. This diversity is questionable as to whether it is good or not, but when it comes down to the end, the whole team worked together to pull through, even at the tightest moments.

The biggest problems that the team had to compete with were countless injuries and terrible weather. Many women suffered injuries which barred them from further competition. The weather was a constant threat, it rained at practically every meet. Despite the problems, the women's track team gave a brilliant display of individual and team talent.

FLOG

I'll never forget my first game of golf. I tried to remember everything Ms. Brabb, and the manager, Mike Prior, had taught me during practice. Head down. Eyes on the ball. Left arm straight. Feet shoulder width apart. Check the grip. Ready to swing. As my clubhead swung back, my straight arm curved. My eyes glanced at my fingers that had slipped from their original position. Divot! The down stroke was so severe that it whacked up enough soil to build a farm on.

As I gazed into the distant horizon to locate my Golden Ram golf ball, that should have been sailing through the air. What? After 2 minutes, I still couldn't see it. Well, maybe it fell short. I looked 150 yards away — no ball, 75 yards away — no ball, 25 yards away — no ball. At least I had hit it. Two feet away was my hopeless Golden Ram.

It wasn't pain from swinging the golf club that had hurt my body. It was the pre-season golf conditioning that killed me. I never thought that I would have to run, lift weights, do push-ups, sit-ups, and squat thrusts just to be able to swing a stupid club. As I examined the round object in front of me, I wondered if it was really worth all that effort.

After making sure that no one was looking, I hurried and made a desperate swing. A glorious shot! Eight feet. That made a grand total of ten feet. I was making pure progress. My third effort resulted in a whiff. Considering that it was a par 3 hole, and I had already taken 3 strokes, I decided to give it up for the day. Since it was 140 yards to the flag, I marked 13 on the score card, and called it quits. It was 4:00 as I walked off the Elks Golf Course. I had started at 2:30, and had gotten nowhere fast. I even let 3 foursomes go ahead of me.

My judgement time came the following day. The golf team was supposed to hand in their score cards to Ms. Brabb after school. I had arrived a little late. I was just in time to hear her announce the line-up. Varsity golfers will be: Diann Williams, Cari Petrullo, Laurie Lenderink, Carolyn Davis, and Beth Heemstra. Junior Varsity golfers will be: Leslie Marsh, Leigh Ann MacDonald, Jacquie Stiltner, Amy Weaver, and Jane Johnson. The rest of the team, Robin Niecko, Sue Scott, Pat Snyder, and Lynn Williams are to practice at the Elks while we play our away match against Portage Central at Milhan Golf Course.

My frown displayed the discouragement that I felt. I tried to convince myself that things could only get better. Besides, this was my first year. Diann Williams had previously played #1 Varsity for the past two years. Cari Petrullo, also a Senior, was an experienced golfer, but it was her first year on Kalamazoo Central's golf team. Laurie Lenderink played #1 on Hackett's Varsity Golf team as a freshman. Varsity golfers Carolyn Davis, and Beth Heemstra both played as J.V. golfers last year. Junior Varsity golfers that also played on the team last year were: Leslie Marsh, Leigh Ann MacDonald, Amy Weaver, and Jane Johnson. Newcomers to the sport of golf were: Jacquie Stiltner, Robin Niecko, Sue Scott, Pat Snyder, and Lynn Williams.

Stepping back onto the Elks Golf Course, I felt I had to prove that I wasn't going to simply give up. Set with determination, I prepared to remain calm throughout the entire 9 holes. I gritted my teeth and started swinging.

I was on time for our next golf meeting, and terribly eager to hand in my score card. I gave it to Ms. Brabb with a confident smile.

"Love-15, Love-40, Game! Won another one. Well all right! Get down, wiping them off the ole court! One more game and I'll have this guy beat.

Love-15, 15 all. 15-30, panic, panic, 30-30. All right I'm coming back. Just two more points. 30-40, oh no, Game. He got that one. I think I'll kill myself. No, no, don't get psyched-out, just hang in there." And so it goes on the Men's Tennis Team.

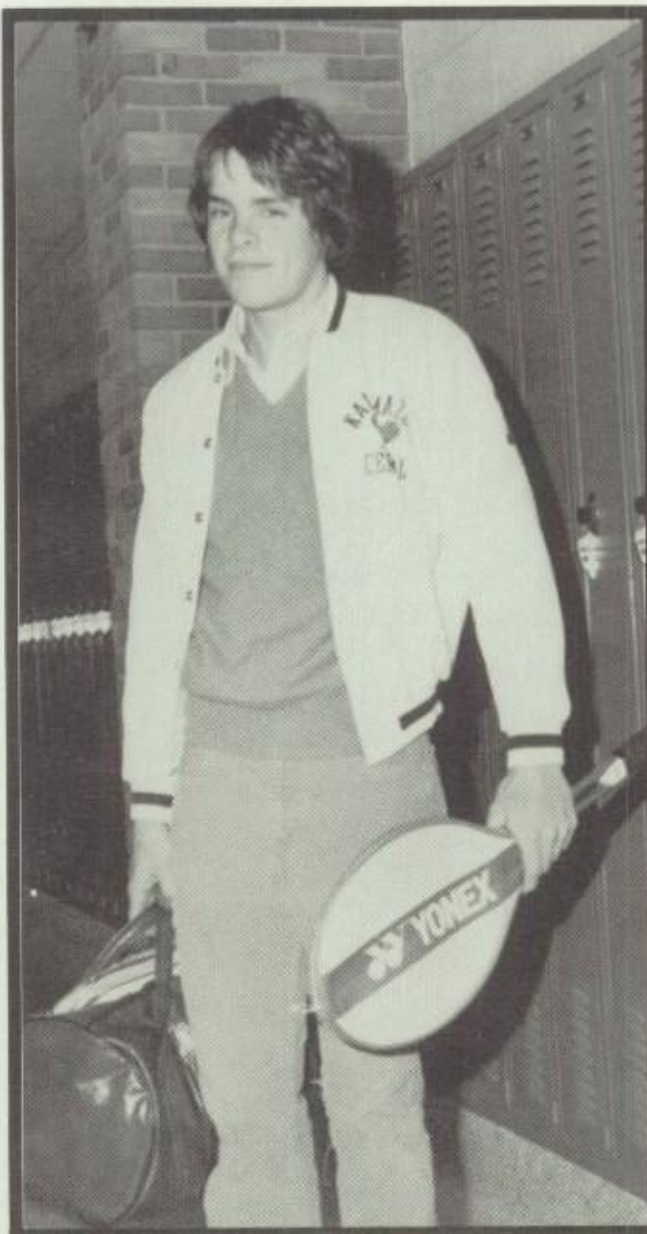

The 1978 Men's Tennis Team ended up with a record of 10 wins and 7 losses. In the Big Eight Conference they finished third with 9 wins and 6 losses. They were captained by two 4.0 G.P.A. men, Rick Taylor and Kevin Johnson. Coach Richardson expresses great satisfaction with the 1978 team. He is looking forward to a great team again this year.

Never forget we make our futures now. Five years from now, we won't remember a single score from a single meet, but we will remember each other, and how we treated each other. We must praise small gains, and support each other when we fail. The disciplines of work and being kind to each other will strengthen us. Those seeds will be the only ones that will bear fruit, and they will be the only ones we will remember.

Sparks of the Future . . .

The 1978 JV Football Team finished their season with a 2 and 7 record. But made up for a rather lack-luster season by defeating arch-rival, Loy Norrix by the score of 25 to 17. Throughout the season there were plenty of sparks, which indicate that CHS football will be better in the years to come. The JV's are coached by Ron Presley and Mike Walker.

Golf! A life-sport! When the beginning of fall comes around, the Kalamazoo Central Men's Golf team starts following the little white ball around the course. This year's varsity team is made up of mostly seniors, and a few really sharp juniors, who played exceedingly well on the Elks, Ridgeview, and Milham courses. The team won 5 matches, lost 2, and came in fifth place, in the Big Eight Conference. Their best round was a 313 when they defeated Loy Norrix, the all city champs. Two of the best players were, Mark Bleier with an average of 82, and Mike Nangle who had the best individual round, with a 74. Coach Trelcar feels the team has average ability, but is looking forward to some better seasons ahead.

Growth for the Future . . .

1978 was a year of growth and development for the men's cross country team. Bolstered by returning lettermen Mike Hoyle and Andy Parent, co-captains of this years team and an influx of excellent sophomore talent, the team showed excellent potential for the future. Adding strength to this years team was the return of Kevin Wright after a years absence from the sport. Leading the sophomores on the varsity was Mike Maher and Jason Watson followed closely by Paul Kehoe and Nathan Schuck. With the return of the underclassmen, Coach Peddler and Ray have hopes of building a championship team next year.

GIANT WOMEN ON THE RUN!

“ . . . Just a Little Further

Sweat pouring down my face as I run through the mud, up hills and stumbling through holes. Talking to myself, I am convinced that the pain in my body doesn't really hurt. "Come on I can do it, just a little further up this hill . . .," as I watch a teammate slip in the mud.

At the first mile marker I see Mr. Griffin yelling, "Come on Lynn, let's close up the gap. Relax Margaret, stretch out your stride."

On towards the second mile marker I find I don't recognize the course. I hear someone yell, "Go right," and I follow without stopping to see who yelled.

Finally up ahead, I see the marker; I hear someone yell some inaudible words and I keep on running.

"One more mile to go," I think to myself as pain shoots through my legs and arms. Breathing hard, sweat pouring out of every part of my body, I strain to keep on going.

One half of a mile; one quarter; one eighth and then it's over. I win second place, but I'm too worn out to notice. I walk so my muscles don't tighten up, and as I walk I hear Mr. Griffin yell, "Nice job Donna; way to go Chris; all right Darlene! We did it; we won!"

"The Year of the Seniors . . ."

"Swimmers, take your marks." Bang. The sound of the gun, and the women are off, hurtling through space into that cool water, and pulling hard toward victory. The meets this year were full of suspense, and the team posted one of the best win-loss records in memory: 5 wins against seven losses. The team was comprised of 21 swimmers, 11 of which were seniors.

The team competed in the Lakeview Relays, again this year, and placed 9th out of a total of 18 teams. There were two relays that made it to the finals. The 400 yard Individual Medley Relay of Stephanie Smith, Mary Schwendener, Maureen Lund, and Kim Rohm placed 4th. The 200 yard backstroke relay of Carol Pugh, Stephanie Smith, Maureen Lund, and Kim Rohm also finished in 4th place. The team was coached by Karla Fettig, competed in 13 dual meets, 2 invitationals, and the Big-8 Conference Meet at the end of the season, in which the team placed 6th.

“Dunk It!”

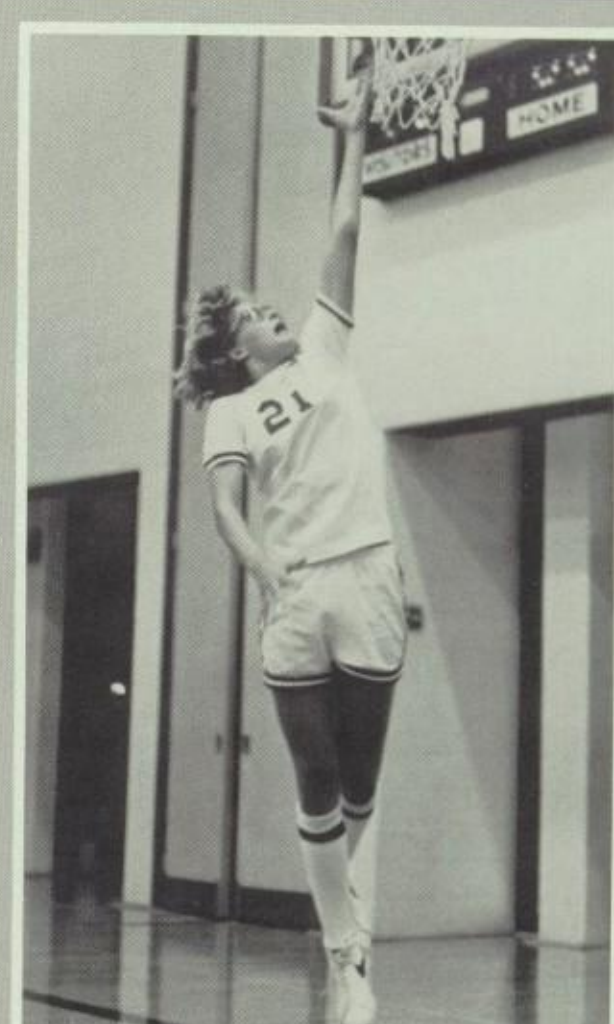

The 1978 Women's Basketball Team started slow this season and finished fast despite many injuries, which kept the team from being at full strength much of the season. After opening losses, the team came back to beat Portage Central, Battle Creek, Lakeview, Holland. The 1978 Varsity team posted the best win record in the past four years. Youth will be the key to next year's team. There are seven seniors leaving this year: Beth Bellville, Mary Costello, Alberta Dowdy, Janine Dales, Laurie Hoogenboom, Annette Husband and Nancy Pattison. The veterans will be missed, but a good group of juniors is coming up, so next year may even be better. So come young ladies, "Dribble, shoot and win!"

"Youth on the Move"

The 1978 KCHS women's tennis team was a very young team. On the team were 3 seniors, 7 juniors and 4 sophomores. This year, the team had no J.V. squad, so the team consisted only of varsity members.

Playing first singles, was Leslie Ballingall, a sophomore. She played a rough season, facing many challengers she meets in her own league competition. Second singles was played by veteran squad member Veronica Ampey. Third singles was Terri Hettinger and fourth was played by Jonna Ruiter. In the doubles, Diane Kirchherr and Cecily Randall played first. Playing second were two sophomores, Sandy Hoff, and Cathy Hopkins. Third doubles were played by juniors Jill Rider and Jean Olech. Extras on the team were Cathy Johnson, Jane Newton and Edie Chandler.

The team had a very tough season, but the fun made up for the losses. On the away trips, there were the trips to MacDonalds, Russ's and the donut shops (Leslie).

After the season, the team had a tennis party at West Hills. The courts were rented, then a delicious pot-luck dinner was served. After dinner, the calories were worn off by sitting in the sauna and the whirlpool. This year's team was one of the closest teams Central has ever had. Everyone got along like sisters and cared for each other in the same way. All I can end this with is a hearty Good Luck to next year's team and I hope you have as good as a time as we did this year, but try to win some more matches.

Homecoming: A time to celebrate ourselves, our school, and our past. When the grads come back, they bring their memories. Now, we make our memories by having fun. Here's to our memories — Homecoming '78.

AUTUMN '78

Homecoming '78 ignited itself with the pep assembly. It was full of skits, cheers, pageantry and pleasant faculty foolishness. The seniors won the cheering contest, as they always do, and the hour passed with loud music and a pleasant feeling, which led into the football game and parade that evening.

The Powder-Puff game was held in a light rain on Wednesday evening. The underclassmen nipped the seniors by a score of 6 to zip. There was much cheering, yelling, and hard hitting. Many of the guys were impressed by the agility, speed and good football technique of the young women. Mr. Horton, Mr. Papendick, Mr. Hagman and a score of other teachers all helped coach, and referee, and generally keep things under control. Incidentally, the winning touchdown was scored by Sue Anderson. Homecoming '78 kept rolling.

Half-Time Festivities

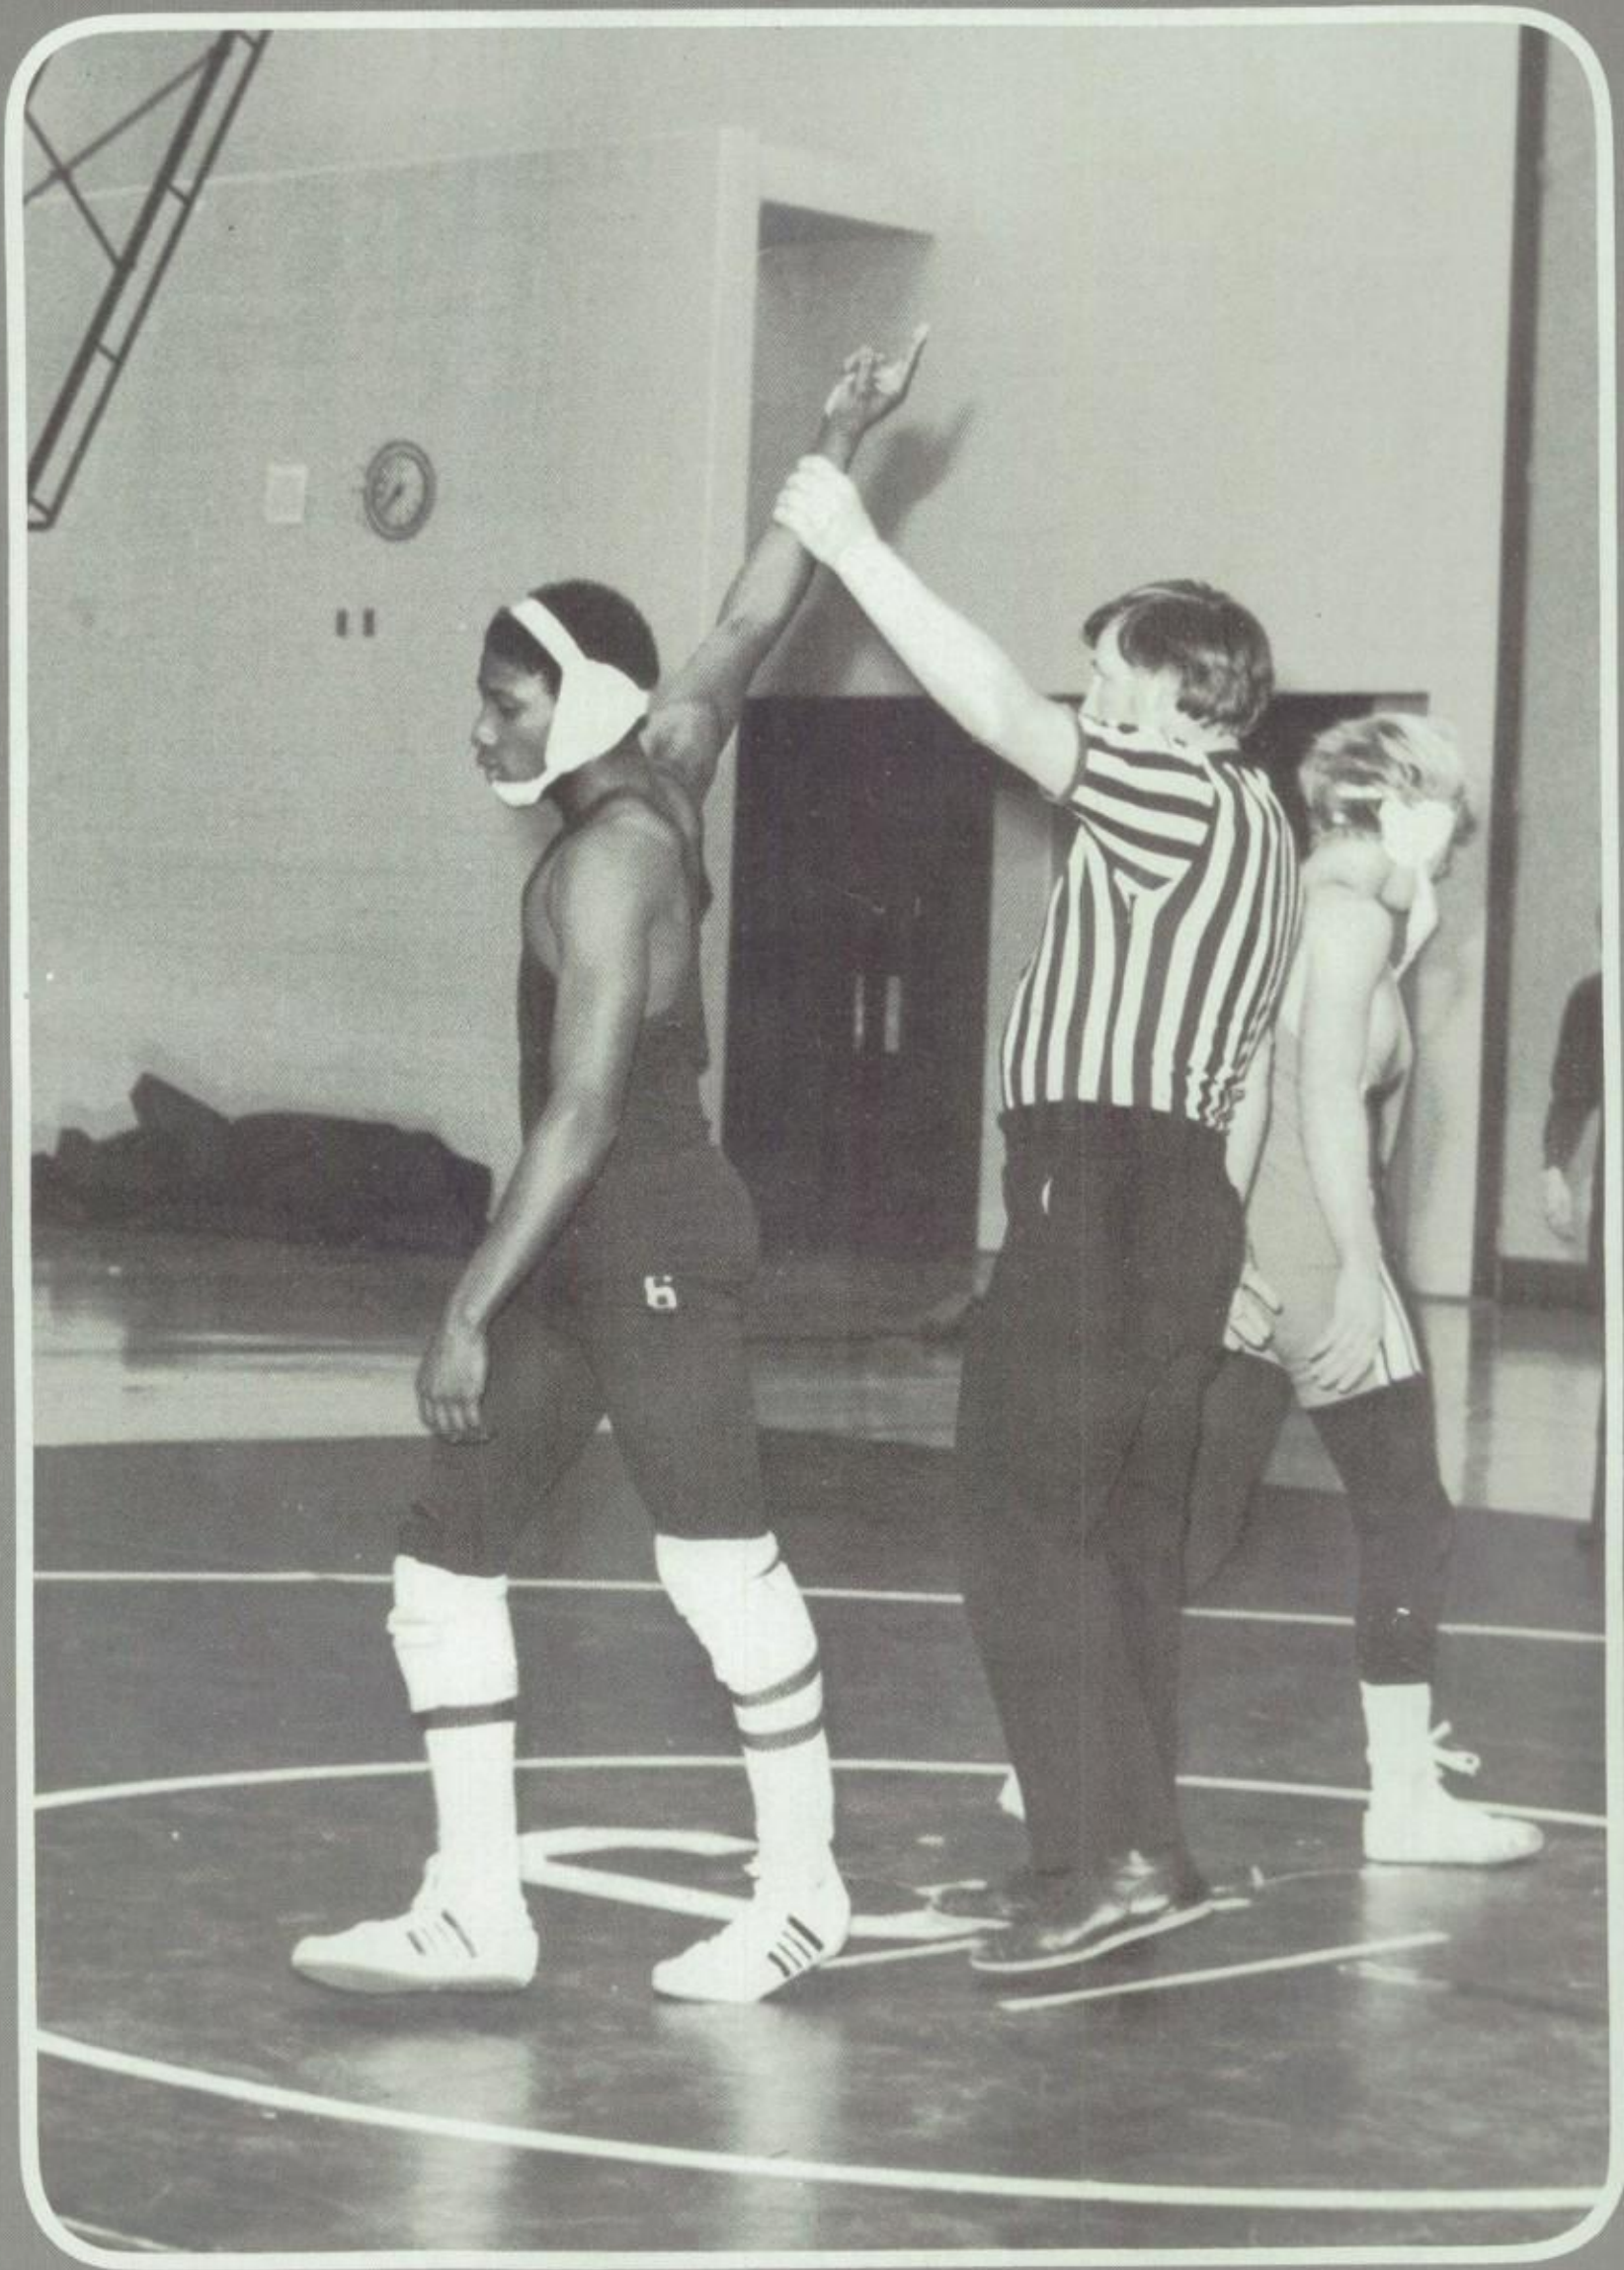

Homecoming '78 evening was led off by the float parade with the big Maroon Band leading the way. The seniors surprised everyone this year by winning the float contest. The Court chosen by the student body this year consisted of five young men and women: Alberta Dowdy, Robin Nieko, Jill Grinwis, Mary Jo Knapper and Gigi Acker. The men were Jerry Dixon, Jack Block, Dave Knapp, Lorenzo Little and Rob Brewer. After the game there was a dance that included a dance contest. Homecoming '78 a night to remember!

When we win, we learn nothing; and tend to repeat our mistakes over again. When we lose; we search, strive and examine what we did, and work toward how we can become better. We win only when we concentrate on the process. The score means nothing. No real athlete ever wants to hear the buzzer that ends the game.

A Year Away . . .

Coach Jackson's Kalamazoo Central High 1978-9 Varsity Basketball Team played some excellent ball throughout the season, but just could not put close games away. So the season record was not as successful as in past seasons. Still, the team is young, and Coach Jackson looks forward to a better campaign next season. Outstanding players this season were Derek Dooley, Toby Macon, Kendall Jackson, Kelvin Wright, Dave Knapp, Jerry Davenport, Steve Wimbley, Tom Taborn, and Craig Curtis.

Mr. Lorenzo Little is a very well known young man at Kalamazoo Central High School. Lorenzo came to Central in September of 1976 from Oakwood Junior High School. While attending Oakwood, he participated in football, basketball, and track. Later he entered Central and went into the same sports: football for Mr. Long and basketball for Mr. Jackson. On January 19, 1978 Lorenzo was seriously injured. Facing blindness, he returned to Central in early March. In September he returned to Central to finish his senior and he plans to go to Michigan State. If you know Lorenzo, then you know that he is a strong young man with a lot of potential, and he has a challenging and beautiful life ahead of him.

Sparks in the Future

The swimming team this year was young. It had six seniors, four juniors and thirteen sophomores. So the future is bright indeed, although the 1978-9 season was long and difficult. The seniors were the bright sparks on the team: Tom Berglund, Jim Parker, Jamie Roberts, Mike Finley, Kevin Moshier, and Scott Keeler, all did their best and scored firsts and seconds in every meet. Coach Moore and Bennett felt that this team was the highest spirited and most enjoyable team that they coached in the past five years. Good luck, next year swim team.

"Have you ever watched a stonecutter hammering away at a rock? A hundred blows of hammer on chisel may make no visible difference, yet perhaps with the one hundred and first blow the rock may suddenly split in two. It is, of course, not just the last blow that fractures the stone, but rather the accumulative effect of all the blows that went before. Every one of them counts."

Paul Simpson McElroy

Kalamazoo Central High Administration

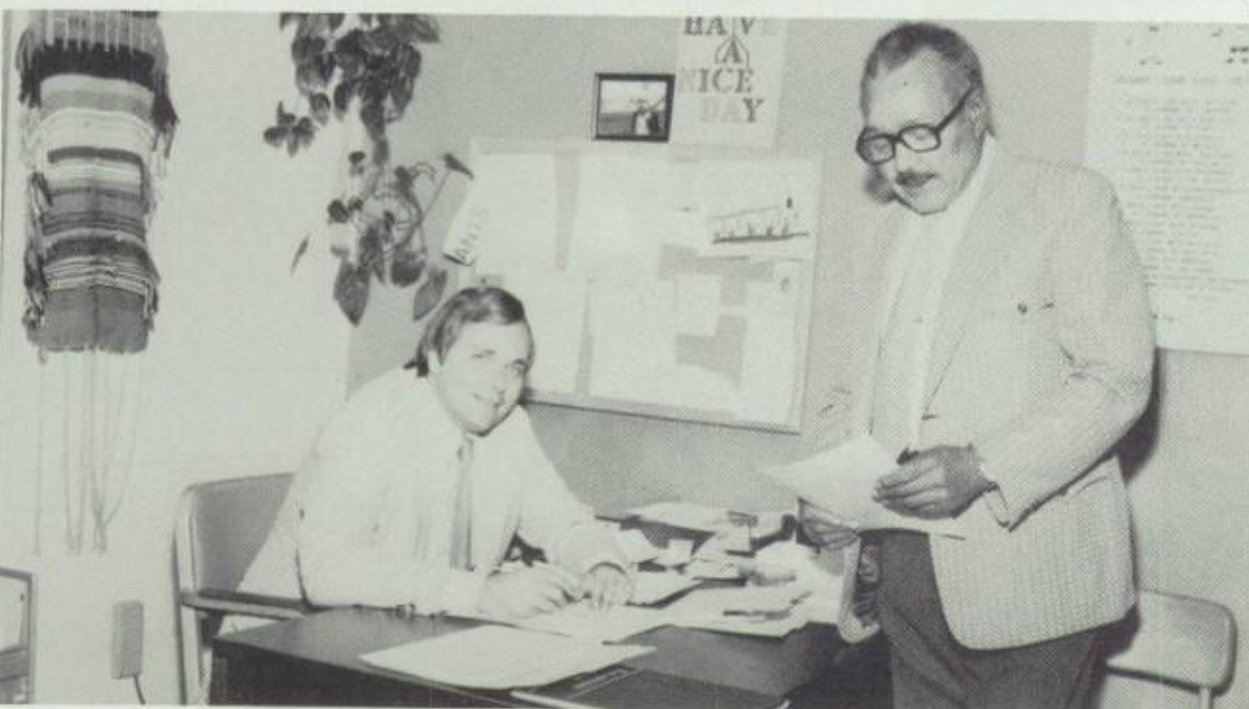

Central High School has over 1400 students, 100 teachers, 20 custodial personnel, 15 cafeteria staff, 10 auxiliary staff and ten administrators. This entire school has to be run with smoothness and efficiency. Each day problems involving hundreds of human beings must be dealt with and solved. This is the job of the Central High administration, and yet without them, there would be precious little education. They remove the stumbling blocks that slow down the teaching process: the rooms being too cold, the student who is out of control, the irate parent, the classroom not picked up the night before, the substitute teacher to replace an ill regular teacher, or the locating of a student whose family needs him/her for an emergency.

The administration works most of the time without being seen. Mr. Haw, Mr. Pyle, Mr. Young, and Mr. Ply for example, are usually working quietly and effectively to see that the school programs are carried out.

Once in a while, a student may see one of them just walking around speaking to students, being friendly and outgoing. If a student bothers to stop and talk, they will be surprised at the friendly manner. If a student has a problem with a teacher, an administrator will listen. If a student has a problem with his locker, an administrator will listen and give directions for help. The administration is there to be courteous to the student body and help wherever and whenever possible, and they are delighted to do so.

Problems arise at Central High every day. They take the shape of classes being too large, or a student deciding that he is in the wrong class. The counselor and then Mr. Pyle is the man to see. Our Dean of Students tries hard to help solve program problems and smooth the way for the student to a better education.

Mr. Ply and Mr. Young are thought to be a small minority, to be Mr. Meany, for they are in charge of seeing to that the discipline of the school be maintained. They are intelligent, thoughtful, and courteous to students even when they are wrong, and we respect them for that.

In general, the rules of behavior and dress at Central are those of common sense, and basic courtesy. Most of the students at the school never have to know these two men in the job they do, and that is the way it should be.

Mr. Haw, our principal, tries to see that the overall programs of the school, both academic and institutional, are kept moving smoothly throughout the school year. He maintains direct contact with students in many ways. He helps plan Homecomings, Brotherhood Week, the Bread Lift, the Red Cross Blood Drive, and general teacher meetings, departmental meetings, individual teacher evaluations, building coordination of the physical plant, and even our dances. He is intimately involved in the school's life, and must be knowledgeable in every facet of activities that go on the school.

On top of that, he must plan for the future of Central; such as the possibility ninth graders coming to the school as enrollment begins its inevitable downward swing in our community.

Finally, no matter what the problem is that arises at Central High, "... the buck stops at Mr. Haw's desk." He must make the final decision on all educational, instructional, and operational matters that decide the direction of everyday school life.

He has done it for many years, and we are hopeful he will do it for many more.

This then is some of the people in the Central High administration, and they are the people who run the school that we live and work in . . . Kalamazoo Central High School.

A community is only as strong as the schools it supports. When the businessmen play an active role in hinging life-skills to the educational process, students learn to connect their education to the larger world outside.

Faith in the future of our society must begin in the schools. Faith in the future of our schools must begin with support from our business friends.

The Delphian Staff thanks all our kind and generous advertisers and patrons for their helpful support.

Man and His Endeavors Are As One.

In his search for understanding, he questioned...
Challenged his observations... Studied the phenomena to discover the nature of himself.

He became one with his endeavors, measuring achievement by his need to know more, applying what he learned to exploring new unknowns that he might help others.

This is the commitment that is renewed each day for all of us who focus our resources on improving the quality of life through science.

The 18,000 people who are The Upjohn Company salute all who step boldly into the search for new discovery.

We are all on the last page of 1979, but we are not on the final page of our lives. We are just beginning to turn the pages . . .

The 1979 Delphian Staff feels that we have symbolized this in our yearbook. Ours has been different. We have introduced new sections such as the Feature section, and created versatility in our special effects and color, and finally we have added a wider perspective of our school.

As we leave, we would like to thank the following special people for making this book successful. First, the Columbia Press Association for their ideas and help in the creation of the book; the KCHS Faculty for cooperating with the staff; Mr. Haw, our principal, for being supportive throughout the year; our Taylor representative Bob Weir for advice and counsel; Powell Studios for their photographic help; and Mr. Bennett, our advisor, for being there and encouraging us throughout the year.

To the student body, we on the Delphian Staff wish the class of 1979 the greatest success in the years to come. Good Luck.

Well, looks like you saved me this page. Aw Gee whiz... I also see we're both in the same place as we always are 'round about this time. I don't know how we do it, we'll have to think about that one. Just think it's been about 4 whole entire great years. And just think we've got 100 more to go. But that's it 104 years of steady friendship is about all one person can take. You are (this will surprise you) the absolute best friend I've ever had (That includes Santa Clause) & I can't ever imagine not having you as a friend. (So even when you've gone off to California or where ever & I'm still here in Kalamazoo we'll still be friends) But don't get the idea that I'll remember you when I'm rich and famous. I don't think there's anyone in the whole, wide world that has laughed more than we have. We've done a lot of crazy and rather wild things. But there are still is a few crazy things that we still have to do (I really can't imagine what) Remember the water fountain at the mall??? (Oh, how could you forget), the time at the Light factor this summer (whoopie), going out and running all those miles for ~~lee~~ (that the craziest, if not dumbest thing we've ever done) But I guess we had are fun doing that too - Playing on the swings, monkey bars, teeter totters etc after a long, tiring meet, cutting work outs, laughing, giggling, waving at truck drivers on the bus while everyone else was sound asleep. Going to Barry's, Matt's and Rob's parties - we did do some pretty good partying then. And now about ski club - now you got to admit that we did have some good times out there. I'll never forget when we ran into those trees, all the guys we met, being chased around by Mr. Carlson and Coach Ray (that was rough), turning on the spot lights up in the bar, the snow ball fights, getting sick (ugh), getting caught by Mr. Ply in Steve Barettes Van, getting caught by Mr. Klein - talking Mr. Klein out of suspension, taking all those long fun walks around the block, talking and gabbling about all the guys, talking, fooling around, flirting, having a ball with all the guys (naughty, naughty), all the wild phone calls. ~~And~~ ~~through~~ ~~parts~~ ~~of~~ ~~Mr. Young's~~ ~~Plu's~~ ~~pictures~~ ~~(not really but we should off)~~ ~~as~~ ~~you can see that this list can and will go on and on and on. God it does seem like our sophomore year wasn't too bad ^{after all}. But just wait till our Junior year!!!!~~ I think that we'll be twice as ~~ready~~ roudy, crazy and wild as ever. (If that's at all possible) I can hardly wait. I really hope this year went pretty good - for you. Remember how we thought "Oh no K-Central - it's going to be terrible" and I guess we were right!!! But hey we made it through an entire year (~~that wasn't~~ ^{even though} it practically killed ~~us~~) But I guess you had fun - considering you only spent about 1/5 the hours that I did in it. Well as I said in 8th grade and you said in 9th "Have fun this summer and I'll see you next fall." - Isn't that terrible. Hope this summer we can have as much/or more fun as we did in the summer of '78. I'm sure we'll both have a great time playing tennis (just once or twice), going to the Elks, mall, Mac's (to feed the birds (of course) on Monday nights) parties, and where ever else this summer will take us. - who knows maybe in the arms of Dave Knapp & Jack Block or Mark Waterhouse!! ~~Give you~~ ~~always~~ hiss, this damn bus.

It's been great knowing
you. Hope to see you more in the future.
Keep up the good work

 Doesn't seem like the year much of you this year. I guess because we didn't have any classes together. I hope to see you over the summer, but have a good one anyway. I hope we can be better friends. Love - Sarah
